

WORKSHOP CECIC

Open science and research assessment reforms under scrutiny: global dilemmas and academic asymmetries

December 1-2, 2025. Cilindro Central CICUNC, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo

(Presentations in English and Spanish welcome, simultaneous translation will be provided)

MONDAY

Welcome

9.00

PANEL 1 The drain of scholarly publishing in the drifts of a profitable market

Chair: Peter Birle (Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut, Germany)

9.15 to 11.00

Stefanie Haustein (School of Information Studies, University of Ottawa, Canada & co-director, ScholCommLab)

The drain of Scientific Publishing: Money!

Vincent Larivière (CIRST, Université de Montréal, Canada)

The drain of Scientific Publishing: Trust!

Fernanda Beigel (INCIHUSA-CONICET / CECIC, FCPYS-Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina)

The drain of Scientific Publishing: Control! A pledge for the re-communalization of scholarly publishing

Juan Pablo Alperin (Simon Fraser University, Canada & co-director, ScholCommLab)

Who Owns the Long Tail? Power and Sustainability in Scholarly Publishing

11.00 to 11.15 Coffee break

PANEL 2 Global, regional and national data sources under scrutiny: coverage studies

Chair: Maximiliano Salatino (INCIHUSA-CONICET, CECIC-UNCuyo, Argentina)

11.15 to 13.00

Alysson Fernandes Mazoni (University of Campinas, Brazil)

Interoperability of global and local bibliometric databases for Latin America

Lucía Céspedes (Érudit / Université de Montréal, Canada)

How multilingual is scholarly communication? Mapping the global distribution of languages in publications and cited references

Osvaldo Gallardo (CONICET / CECIC, Facultad de Ciencias Políticas y Sociales, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina)

Argentine researchers and Article Processing Charges (APC) payment. An analysis combining bibliometrics and representations

Carolina Pradier (Université de Montréal, Canada)

Language hierarchies and gender inequalities: the article coverage of OpenAlex and the Web of Science in Brazil

Lunch

13.00 to 14.15

PANEL 3 Gender and class asymmetries in science

Chair: Osvaldo Gallardo (CONICET / CECIC, Facultad de Ciencias Políticas y Sociales, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina)

14.15 to 16.00

Vincent Larivière (Université de Montréal, Canada)

Open access and the gender gap

Diego Kozlowski (Université de Montréal, Canada) & Carolina Pradier

(Université de Montréal, Canada) & Natsumi S. Shokida (Université de Montréal, Canada)

Science as a Battlefield: Knowledge, Capital Accumulation and Class Struggle

Víctor Montoya (Universidad Nacional de Tres de Febrero, CECIC, Argentina) & Denis Baranger (Universidad Nacional de Misiones, CECIC, Argentina)

Gender disparities in the topics of doctoral theses defended at the Faculty of Social Sciences of the University of Buenos Aires (2003-2022), based on a lexicometric analysis of their titles

Marina Félix de Melo (Universidad Federal de Alagoas, Brazil)

Gender and Scientific Production as Units of Analysis for Transformation

TUESDAY

PANEL 4 Open data in SSH: comparative perspectives

Chair: Exequiel Fontans (SNI Uruguay / Universidad de la República, Uruguay)

9.00 to 10.45

Peter Birle (Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut, Germany) & Carolina Santarossa (Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut, Germany)

Legal frameworks, national regulations and incentives for Open Science in Germany and Europe

Clara Ruvituso (Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut, Germany)

Open Data Infrastructures in Germany and the Challenges for the Social Sciences

Fabio Erreguerena (CECIC, Facultad de Ciencias Políticas y Sociales, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina) & Juan Piovani (CONICET, UNLPlata, Argentina)

Legal frameworks, national regulations and incentives for Open Science in Argentina and Latin America

Osvaldo Gallardo (CONICET / CECIC, Facultad de Ciencias Políticas y Sociales, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina) & Gonzalo Castillo (CONICET, Facultad de Ciencias Sociales, Universidad Nacional de San Juan, CECIC, Argentina)

Open datasets in SSH in Argentina: institutional repositories and institutional capacities

10.45 to 11.00 Coffee break

PANEL 5 Diamondalisation and the researchers' choice of a journal

Chair: Juan Pablo Alperin (Simon Fraser University, Canada & co-director, ScholCommLab)

11.00 to 13.00

Fernanda Beigel (INCIHUSA-CONICET / CECIC, Facultad de Ciencias Políticas y Sociales, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, Argentina)

Bringing journal indexation back in

Gonzalo Villarreal (PREBI-SEDICI Universidad Nacional de La Plata y CESGI Comisión de Investigaciones Científicas, Argentina) & Enzo Rucci (III-LIDI, Facultad de Informática, Universidad Nacional de La Plata y Comisión de Investigaciones Científicas, Argentina) & Lautaro Josin Saller (PREBI-SEDICI Universidad Nacional de La Plata, Argentina) & Juan Cruz Mazullo (PREBI-SEDICI Universidad Nacional de La Plata, Argentina)

HERA's contributions to the scientific evaluation of high-quality diamond journals

Erwin Krauskopf (Universidad de las Américas, Chile)

Breaking the Silence: SciELO Journals and Their Low Value in Chilean Academic Assessments

Lunch

13.00 to 14.15

PANEL 6 Academic evaluation: scientific autonomy under pressure

Chair: Gonzalo Villarreal (Universidad Nacional de La Plata, Argentina)

14.15 to 16.15

Pierre Benz (University of Geneva, Switzerland / Université de Montréal, Canada)

Science by the few: How editorial elites shape the reproduction of epistemic inequalities

Natsumi S. Shokida (Université de Montréal, Canada)

Trump's Orwellian censorship of diversity, equity, and inclusion in science

Maximiliano Salatino (INCIHUSA-CONICET, CECIC-UNCuyo, Argentina)

Assessment as an act of faith. Consequences of the outsourcing of academic judgment

Peter Birle (Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut, Germany)

European discussions on reforming scientific evaluation procedures in the context of Open Science

Exequiel Fontans (SNI Uruguay / Universidad de la República, Uruguay)

Production profiles of the SNI (Uruguay) and coverage in WoS, Scopus, OpenAlex, Latindex, and SciELO

Conclusions and closure

16.15 to 17.00